VOL. VII. NO. 126.

GREENSBORO, N. C., SATURDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1900.

Social.

The Progressive Author Club met yesterday afternoon with Miss Margaret Merrimon. The prize, a souvenir cup and saucer, was won by Miss Louise Bradshaw. Miss Bonnie Bishop captured the booby, a pretty letter opener. The refreshments, to use the expression of one of the girls, were "just delicious."

Those present were Misses Louise Bradshaw, May Bradshaw, Mamie Walker, Emma Sharp, Anne Glenn, Lillian Adams, Claire Claxton, Bonnie Bishop, and Pauline Pretzfelder.

The young gentlemen who gave a dance in the Trogon building on Christmas Eve will give another Monday night in the McAdoo Hall.

One of the charming parties of the season was held last night at the hospitable residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McNairy. About thirty young people enjoyed themselves to the full extent in games and music, and last but not least, delicious refreshments. Among the features of the evening a beautiful cluster of mistletoe was easily first, it having an irresistible attractiveness for the merry-makers.

The reception last night by the Merchants and Manufacturers Association was one of that clubs usual brilliant holiday affairs.

Mrs. Freeman Shot at Archdale.

Mrs. John Freeman, of Archdale, was accidentally shot by her son at her home yesterday morning. He was sitting near her working with his gun when it was accidentally discharged, and the load took effect in her ankles. It is probable that one foot will have to be amputated.

Mrs. Freeman is a sister of Mrs. Petty, of this city, and an aunt of Miss Mary and Mr. Ed. Petty. Both of the latter left yesterday afternoon for Archdale.

The Glee Club Last Night.

In the Brown University Glee Club, which appeared here last night, there were eleven young men, all of them skillful musicians. They afforded the small audience which attended an hour and a half of good entertainment, but gave nothing very striking, though the whole was a very good average. The occasion would have been much more enjoyable if the house had been warmed.

Has Accepted a Position in Reidsville.

Mr. Gordon Matlock, who for some time has been engaged in harness work with Mr. G. S. Gaulden, has accepted a position with the Neil Hardware Co., of Reidsville, and will have charge of their harness and buggy department. Mr. Matlock is familiar with the details of the harness business and will make a success in his new field. He left this afternoon for Reidsville.

Likely to Call a Pastor Tomorrow.

The committee on pulpit supply of the West Washington Street Baptist Church have decided upon their report and will put it in tomorrow morning after the regular service. They have selected for recommendation as pastor to succeed Rev. L. Johnson one of the foremost preachers of their Church in the State. The church will likely extend a call to the minister recommended.

Lucke Brought Back.

Richmond Times. Governor Tyler issued a rendition warrant on a requisition from Governor Russell, of North Carolina, for L. L. Lucke, who was under arrest in this city, and who was wanted in Guilford county, North Carolina, on the charge of embezzling about $250 from the Standard Oil Company at High Point, Lucke having been the agent of the company there. The papers were duly delivered to Officer William J. Weatherly, who proceeded at once to the Old North State with his prisoner. Lucke was arrested through the efforts of the Richmond National Detective Agency, of which Mr. A. M. Brownwell is proprietor.

Lucke was bonded by the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland, of which Messrs. J. B. Moore & Son, of this city, are agents.

GREENSBORO AS IT WAS IN 1808

THE FIVE COMMISSIONERS WHO BOUGHT THE SITE.

Forty-Two Acres Purchased at the Price of Ninety-Eight Dollars—The Four Streets—Summit Avenue.

To the Editor of The Telegram:

On the 25th day of March, 1808, "Ralph Gorrell, of the county of Guilford, conveyed by deed forty-two acres of land to Charles Bruce, Hugh Forbis, Jacob Clap, George Swaim and Nathan Mendenhall, commissioners appointed by act of Assembly for the purpose of purchasing a suitable tract of land at or contiguous to the center of Guilford county for erecting a town, court house, prison and stocks and such other public uses as they may deem necessary thereon."

This deed, together with a plat of the town can be found in the register's office in Book I, 1806; page 346.

"The main streets," four in number, "are four poles wide," etc. Others are narrower and those subsequently made, seem to have been laid out without forecast as to the great travel and traffic that they are now compelled to sustain.

Public streets like public parks, to which attention was recently called, are of course essential to the health, beauty, convenience and growth of a city. Whatever divergence of opinion may have existed at the time as to the advisability of a public tax in aid of the construction of Summit avenue, all now see in this broad, safe and elegant thoroughfare an object lesson that abundantly repays the town for every dollar invested therein.

Many of our streets are too narrow this day, with an ever and rapidly increasing demand upon their space and carrying capacity. It behooves all to bear these facts in mind for the future, for the growth of Greensboro is simply phenomenal.

Yours Truly,
JOSEPH M. MOREHEAD.

P. S.—It may be interesting to know that the actual geographical center of the county is, as I am informed, but three or four hundred yards to the north of the court house.

FLOURISHING JUNIORS.

Cartland Council Growing Rapidly—New Officers Elected.

Cartland Council No. 99, Jr. O. U. A. M., held a very interesting meeting in the elegantly appointed Junior Hall, over Grissom & Fordham's drug store, last night. Six new members were received. This council is only three months old, but is growing rapidly and is in a most flourishing condition.

Among the business transacted last night was the election of the following officers for the ensuing term:

Councillor—T. A. Glascock.
Vice-Councillor—J. N. Longest.
Recording Secretary—W. I. Underwood.

Assistant Recording Secretary—T. C. Coffin.

Financial Secretary—R. A. Ward.
Treasurer—W. P. Fields.
Warden—W. A. Chisholm.
Conductor—D. E. Sergeant.
Inside Sentinel—G. V. Wynne.
Outside Sentinel—J. H. Boone.
Chaplain—Rev. W. L. Grissom.
Trustee—J. W. Crawford.
State Council Representative—W. I. Underwood.
Alternate Representative—J. W. Crawford.

Grandfather, Son and Grandson All Died at the Same Age.

Mr. B. T. Jennings, who died at the residence of his son, Mr. C. W. Jennings, last Monday, an account of which appeared in The Telegram of that date, was in his eighty-fifth year. A singular coincidence in his age is found in the fact that his father died in his eighty-fifth year, and his grandfather, who was a Revolutionary soldier and who fought in the Battle of Guilford Court House, also died in his eighty-fifth year. The family are still in possession of interesting data and relics of their Revolutionary ancestor.

Mr. Jennings had often spoken of the fact of his father and grandfather dying at the same age, and had expressed the belief that he would live no longer than they.

REVOLUTIONARY LEADERS

Judge Schenck Receives from Mr. Haywood a Nice Engraving of Maryland Heroes.

Judge Schenck, President of the Battle Ground Company, received today by express a handsome engraving of Maryland heroes of the Revolutionary War from Mr. Marshall Delancey Haywood, who has been in Baltimore looking up some historical lore. First among the illustrious heroes is John Eagle Howard, Lieutenant Colonel of the glorious First Maryland Regiment, who won the Battle of Cowpens, and after Colonel Gunby received his wound led the gallant regiment to the defeat of Colonel Webster, of the British army, and annihilated the first "Queen's Guards," in the valley of the Continental field. He was at Eutaw Springs and subsequently was, after the war, made Governor of Maryland.

Second, Colonel Otho Williams, who led the light troops who out-generalled Cornwallis and made Greene's retreat from Guilford Court House, February 10, 1781, to Virginia safe, a most brilliant military feat.

General Smallwood's genial face is in the group. He it was, who was made to succeed General Summer after Gates' defeat at Camden, to gratify Caswell's unjust persecution of Summer and for which he resigned the command; but Summer was too patriotic to sulk in his tent, and was again on the field at Eutaw Springs September 7th, 1781.

General Wilkinson, who fought at different places in the North, and subsequently became Governor of Louisiana, is one of the best looking of the galaxy.

The frame containing these distinguished "fighters" will be placed in the Battle Ground Museum, and their deeds, as well as their faces, will be familiar to visitors, who visit to make their acquaintance. We ought to have a galaxy picture—a group of North Carolina soldiers—engraved and put in the museum.

We hope soon to have the picture of Caruther; we have Colonel Davis and Major Davis, Hooper and John Penn, Winston and others.

Some Points About House Furnishing and Other Matters of a Domestic Nature.

In decorating a room, if the furniture that goes in it is already in possession, that should be carefully considered before the tones of color are decided upon. A room filled with fine old mahogany furniture was spoiled because of a sage-green coloring in walls and draperies. Yellow and white, the walls yellow and woodwork white, would have made the apartment beautiful, says the New York Post.

Colored effects in table glass are still popular, and more than the delicate colors are represented. Red in graded tones is a favorite, and some specimens in a fairly bright blue are also shown. The color is rarely solid throughout the vessel or dish, but shades prettily. A wine-set, for example, has the stems and feet of the glasses of red or green, with the stopper of the decanter to match. The rest of the articles are in a pale shade, scarcely off white, of the color.

Taffeta portieres have been seen in some of the more sumptuous country houses. The silk is of a heavy quality and of extra width and finish. They cannot, however, dispute the palm with the velvetines and corduroys that are shown this autumn in the most beautiful tones of color. These fall in artistic folds and with a grace that is equaled by almost no other portiere fabric.

A handsome and appreciated wedding gift to a bride setting up house-keeping is a silver serving-dish. If one or two friends can select together a pair of these dishes, with a platter perhaps from a third giver, the set in similar ornamentation, the table-service of the new household will be well started. Whole dinner sets of china are now little sought after, handsome sets of plates being chosen in preference, to be used with various silver serving-dishes.

Rice passed through the coffee-mill to remove the flavor of coffee before spices are ground is said to be better than bread crumbs for the same purpose. The rice may serve, too, after the spices, to restore the mill to its primary service, and this latter handful of rice, impregnated as it is with spices, will be found an excellent addition to soup. Many good cooks often throw in with the rice, barley, or vermicelli added to soup a clove or two and a couple of pepper-corns.

DEATH OF MISS MAIE CARR.

PASSED AWAY PEACEFULLY YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

Death Occurred at Trinity After an Illness Extending Over Three Years.

Miss Maie Carr, after a lingering illness of over three years with consumption, passed peacefully away at her home in Trinity yesterday afternoon. She was a daughter of Prof. O. W. Carr and a sister of Mrs. Dred Peacock of this city.

Everything that medical skill and loving hearts and hands could do to prolong her life were unavailing, and the touch of the great Physician brought life everlasting.

Throughout her sickness she bore her suffering patiently, never murmuring. Thinking that a change of climate would be beneficial, her parents carried her to Florida and later to the mountains of Western North Carolina, but to no purpose.

Miss Carr was for a number of years librarian at the Greensboro Female College and later President Peacock's private secretary.

The funeral took place at Trinity this afternoon.

Changes at Greensboro Female College.

Rev. T. A. Smoot left yesterday for his new work in Fayetteville. Mrs. Smoot will go next week. The people of Greensboro give up Mr. and Mrs. Smoot with reluctance.

Prof. R. B. Craven, who succeeds Prof. Smoot at the College, arrived last night from Durham.

Miss Martha Dozier, a graduate of the class of '99 has been appointed secretary to President Peacock. She is expected to arrive tonight.

Census Shows Increase of 104.9 Per Cent. in Population in a Decade.

The census bureau has made public the returns of population for the territory of Arizona. The population of the territory in 1900 is 122,212, as compared with a population in 1890 of 59,620. This shows an increase during the decade of 62,592, or 104.9 per cent. This large increase is due in part to the fact that there were 28,469 Indians and 154 other persons, or a total of 28,623 persons, on Indian reservations, etc., in Arizona, who were specially enumerated in 1890 under the provisions of the census act, but were not included in the general population of the territory at that census.

The population of the territory in 1870 was 9,658, and during the ten years from 1870 to 1880 it increased 30,782, or 318.7 per cent., giving a population in 1880 of 40,440. The population in 1890, as given in the report for that census, was 59,620, representing an increase during the decade of 19,180, or 47.4 per cent. The population of Arizona in 1900 is more than 12 times as large as the population given in 1870, the first census taken after its organization as a territory in 1863.

The total land surface of Arizona is, approximately, 112,920 square miles, the average number of persons to the square mile of the censuses of 1890 and 1900 being as follows: 1890, 0.5; 1899, 1.

An Explanation.

Those chief justices who didn't vote for Elias Howe's admission to the Hall of Fame probably have it in for him, suggests the Chicago Times-Herald, because he didn't fix his machine so it would sew on suspender buttons.

"No," answered the young man with short hair. "Who wrote it?"—Washington Star.

END OF HAZING EXAMINATION

COMMITTEE YESTERDAY BROUGHT OUT TOUGH STUFF.

Pat Cotton in Cadet's Mouth to Keep Him from Crying Out—One Boy Forced to Stand Guard Over a Dead Rat.

West Point, Dec. 28.—The taking of testimony by the military court of inquiry in regard to the death of former Cadet Oscar L. Booz will close here tomorrow afternoon. Today's investigation brought out testimony that cadets had been hazed to a degree of exhaustion. The victims mentioned particularly were Cadets McArthur and Haskell. McArthur himself denied that he had convulsions, but acknowledged that he had been exercised to such an extent that he had cramps in his muscles and that he lost control of them. Haskell is not in the corps now, so that his testimony was not available. Several of the present fourth class men told of what forms of hazing existed during last summer's encampment, and while there were a few cases of men being made to stand on their heads, there was very little exercising done which would show that the majority of the cadets are living up to the class agreement made last year, to abolish severe hazing methods.

Cadet John C. Pegram, of Virginia, testified that in camp in 1899 he exercised Cadet Kenzel. "I gave him 150 eagles, I think," he said. "I was in my room. Cadet Williams called me out into the hall and told me a man had fainted. Kenzel was lying down. I gave him some water, lifted him up and he said he was all right. I heard also that a cadet named McGinnish had fainted and that a plebe had fainted. To the latter I carried smelling salts. He was a fourth class man. He revived."

"Did you ever hear of cotton being put in cadet's mouths to keep them from crying, or being hysterical?"

"Yes, I was told that Cadet MacArthur had requested some upper class men to stuff his mouth with cotton so that he could not cry out hysterically, as he said he could not control himself after some severe exercising."

"Why should he do this?"

"There was an officer near by at the time and I was told McArthur was afraid he would hear him."

Young Phil Sheridan was recalled. He added the name of Cadet Brenton to the list of those who had fainted after exercising. He also said that Cadet Haskell was only shamming the night he was supposed to have fainted.

Cadet Quinn Gray, of Texas, had heard that Haskell had been hazed and that Cadet McArthur had been attacked with convulsions after "exercising."

Cadet W. D. A. Anderson, of Virginia, told the court of his having been required to swallow Tobacco sauce and qualify for the mess hall by eating 100 prunes.

Cadet H. H. Robert, of Mississippi, cleaned brass guns and bayonets, carried water and swept out the tents of upper class men during the summer encampment this year.

Cadet C. R. Alley, of Massachusetts, was compelled to stand on his head in a bath tub in six inches of water. He only remained in that position for a moment. He slid across the floor of the bath room and stood guard over a dead rat. In reply to further questions by General Clous, Ally said that on one occasion in camp he was called upon to say who was the meanest man in the third class. He refused and he was called out to fight Cadet Blair, of the third class. Blair won, giving the witness a bad nose bleed. Other witnesses gave experiences in hazing. West Point officials also testified to steps taken to suppress hazing. Former Cadet J. R. Doyle, of Philadelphia, testified that he saw Cadet Bender exercise Breth to the point of exhaustion. Cadet Ulysses S. Grant, grandson of the late President, said that in 1899 he had to do eagles, held out dumbbells and did other exercises and ridiculous things.

is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking spot, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity.

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been too low and are just now getting reasonable. Your children will be glad to build at double the price it now costs you. It is a trite, but true saying, if you want to build, "Now is the time."

And ours is the place to get the stuff.

THE BRITISH RULE.

Have a Knack of Getting Into Power in Other Lands.

Notable Instances of Such Reigns in Semisavage Countries—Despotism Control Exercised by Self-Made Kings.

Not only does England govern many peoples on her own account, but Englishmen seem to have the faculty of ingratiating themselves with still other nations and practically running them. The most conspicuous of these Britons just now is Sir Robert Hart, who controls the customs service of China. His name and the story of his rise and achievements have been in the newspapers so much recently that it is all familiar to the public, says the New York Press. In his position Sir Robert has nothing to do with England, yet he has contrived to do a good turn to his native land many times. One time when Russia wanted to advance China a loan and thus get China in her power, Sir Robert checkmated the game of "Adam-zad, the Bear That Walks Life a Man."

Corea, the peninsular country that juts out of China, has been managed for years by McLeavy Brown, who holds immense power in the land. He is a private Briton, like Sir Robert Hart, and has the customs, finances, government and practically the nation in his hands. He rescued the country from bankruptcy, showed the king how to reform the army, swept away official swindlers and leeches and made a happy and prosperous nation of a country that had been in a bad state.

For a case of despotic power wielded by a Briton, there is an instance nearer home. John Finlayson, who died a short time ago, ruled a large part of Morocco and was by a long way the most useful ruler the country ever had. He was a Scotchman, and had a knowledge of the Moors and the Arabic language that was unequalled by any man who ever lived—except, perhaps, the traveler Burton.

He was originally a mining expert, and he opened and worked some tin mines in the back country for the benefit of the sultan. He became a close friend of the monarch, who made him practically a ruling viceroy, who did the work and took the credit, leaving the sultan to amuse himself without the anxiety of governing.

Finlayson remodeled the army, reformed the revenues, and soon Morocco began to flourish. He did what no sultan had ever been able to do—kept the wild tribes of the interior in something approaching order. Piracy and robbery he weeded out to a large extent, but it was impossible to stop them altogether. He paid off the national debt of $10,000,000 and increased the nation's revenues from $750,000 to $2,500,000.

He lived the life of an Arab chief, but kept to the Christian religion. He was obliged, however, to conform to the ceremonies of Mohammedanism, for he was too tactful to excite prejudice. The nation at large really thought him an Arab by birth. He was always traveling about the country with his suite, turning up unexpectedly. He held the chief post of justice, and was feared and esteemed as no native subject ever was. When some of his unruly subjects raided Spanish territory and nearly caused a war, he pulled his adopted nation through the fix and paid a small indemnity. Once every year he visited his native town of Aberdeen for a week. Morocco misses him sorely, now that he is gone, and the country's prosperity is not what it was. He died of fever caught in the Tetuan swamps, and his funeral was honored even more than a sultan's. Morocco did not know he was the son of a Scotch tailor, but so he was, and a great man into the bargain. He remained a subject of Victoria up to his death.

Kipling's famous story, "The Man Who Would Be King," is founded on fact. An ex-civil servant, Cowper, who had come to grief in his profession, obtained the powers of a monarch in Kafiristan. This is a wild and dangerous country at the back of Afghanistan, north of India, and, as a rule, it is certain death for any European who is found there. The Kafirs are one of the crudest and most turbulent races on earth. Yet this man, who went there without followers or money, was actually installed as king for a short time. He was master of the Kafir language and manners, and managed to get himself accepted as a sort of god.

While he was king he did the thing thoroughly and governed well; also surrounded himself with money, horses and servants. His reign, which was popular while it lasted, gained for him the reverence of the people, for they believed him to be a genuine deity, and worshiped at a temple he had erected to himself. He established the beginning of a great horse trade with Afghanistan, which has flourished ever since, and the country certainly prospered under his rule. He held the throne only a year, for a rival chief aroused a faction against him and had him murdered.

THE GREAT SIBERIA.

Possibilities of This Vast Country Not Yet Realized by the World.

Fast Becoming Dotted with Thriving Villages—Rich, Productive Soil and Immense Mineral Wealth Yet to Be Developed.

Siberia of to-day is a land filled with thriving villages, and is giving promise of wealth. Consul Smith, at Moscow, has written to the state department an interesting report on that country. He says:

"Ten years ago the name Siberia conjured up a picture of wastes of snow and ice, boundless steppes and coasts white with icebergs. To-day this same Siberia is a land filled with thriving villages of peasant farmers, producing grain and vegetables in plenty, and giving promise of mineral wealth which will astonish the world. 'The world has now to deal with a new factor, and a factor heretofore unconsidered, as is evidenced by the ignorance of the Russians themselves regarding the affairs and conditions beyond their northern border land.'"

"The lack of exploitation of such evident mineral wealth as is to be found in Siberia is unparalleled in other parts of the civilized world. Of these resources gold is by far the most important, and it is, curiously enough, the least undeveloped."

"Cities of from 10,000 to 50,000 inhabitants are now numerous in Siberia. Hotels supplied with comfortable rooms, restaurants which may be truly said in many cases to be palatial, electric lights and telephone connections are not difficult to find. One may now traverse Siberia with his hands folded if he so wishes, as the elegant weekly vestibule, supplied with bath, piano, dining salon, drawing-room, leather sofas, easy chairs, and observation cars, the whole fitted with electric lights and call bells, rolls from Moscow to Irkutsk. The cost of this remarkable journey, 3,200 miles, including sleeper, is but $44, first class."

"To the majority of the inhabitants of St. Petersburg and Moscow Siberia is as unknown as it is to the people of the mountain district of Tennessee. When men of affairs at Moscow were asked what clothes to take to Siberia they replied that furs were always necessary on account of the intense cold. Actual experience in the city of Krasnoyarsk showed that the thermometer registered 110 degrees for days together in the month of August and that any clothes but those made of silk and linen were absolutely unendurable."

"But let Siberia speak for herself; let the globe-trotter get away from the traveling agencies for a month and a new world, where elements of strength and virility soon to be felt in the struggle for existence are but waiting to develop under the touch of western enterprise. Some advance has already been made, as is evident when American moving machines are seen rattling through the streets of Tomsk, and a policeman may be noted riding a United States bicycle through the dusty highways of Krasnoyarsk. The beginnings are small, but the straws blow with the wind of progress."

BREAKS WEDDING RECORD.

Pennsylvania Young Woman Marries Twice and Is a Widow in Two Years.

Wedded twice and widowed once in less than two years and not yet 20 years of age is the startling matrimonial record possessed by Mrs. Howard Gould, whose husband is advance agent for a theatrical company. Two years ago next month Mrs. Gould, who was then Miss Edith Woodling, left her home in Scranton, Pa., and went to New York, where her sweetheart, James W. Garvey, Jr., was being treated in St. Luke's hospital for consumption. Although informed that he was not destined to live she married him. Five months later Mrs. Garvey was back in Scranton, a widow at the age of 18.

Two weeks ago the repertory company played at the Academy at Scranton. Howard Gould, one of the company, was a handsome, fair-haired young fellow, and it was a case of love at first sight. Saturday afternoon last he and Mrs. Garvey were married at Wilkesbarre by Rev. W. J. Hall and came to Scranton afterward for the blessing of the bride's parents.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 29

THE INAUGURATION JANUARY 15TH.

Governor-elect Aycock will be inaugurated January 15. There has been some misunderstanding regarding the date from the fact that the Constitution says that the terms of the executive officers shall commence on the first day of January next after their election, and also provides that the returns of the votes of these officers shall be opened and published by the Legislature. In 1897, to set the whole matter straight, the Legislature passed a statute regarding the inauguration. This provides that the vote shall be opened and published by the Legislature on the first Tuesday after the convening of the Assembly, and the officers shall be inaugurated immediately. The General Assembly meets on the "first Wednesday after the first Monday in January." This, therefore, puts the inauguration this year on Tuesday, the 15th.

Not a small part of a newspaper's business is to find out that a big lot of the news that comes to it is not true. All kinds of stories come to a newspaper, stories with fantastic embellishments or with all colored background. The great wonder is that newspapers are not more often imposed upon. From yesterday's experience the question at issue may be easily illustrated. The first batch of telegraphic news that came in contained a thrillingly horrible story about the drowning in an ice pond of forty-nine school children. After the story had been carefully written out and prepared for the press a statement came saying that the story was a fake and that the news agencies had been imposed upon. Some papers had doubtless published the fake before the correction came, and thereby suffered. The local field is always full of sensations, which, when run down amount to nothing.

The school book question is a very important one and we have no suggestions to offer the Legislature on the subject, further than to say that such measures as will make the books used become cheaper should be adopted. Under the present system of County adoption the book companies maintain a costly lobby in every county, and of course this expense is added to the cost of the books. Besides, the system offers too easy an opportunity for the book companies to over reach the people, as, for instance, in cases where the same book is sold to different counties at different prices, as we are informed is the case in the State.

If our memory does not betray us we have a very distinct recollection that nearly so many as half our exchanges have declared in favor of impeachment if the facts as stated in the celebrated White case are correct. It is not "peanut politics," as one of our esteemed contemporaries has expressed it, but merely a desire to again indicate the firm resolve of our people that no one branch of government shall usurp or ignore the rights or prerogatives of another.—Salisbury Truth-Index.

This firm resolve always bobs up when the other branch is in the hands of the other crowd.

What sort of a government anyhow are we living under?—Wilmington Messenger.

Such an one, no doubt, as the pessimists of fifty years hence will point out to the rising generation as an example of the good old government of the fathers.

We may not have observed closely, but it appears that the Christmas celebrators were more careful than usual of their eyes, fingers, and scalps.

It is not likely that there is any truth in the report that De Wett and the other Boer generals have made propositions to surrender on certain conditions. The Boer cause appears to be in a more hopeful condition now than at any time since the surrender of Cronje. There can be but little doubt that the British strength is weakening in South Africa until reinforcements can be sent, and this being the fact, together with the threatened uprising of the Cape Colony Dutch, it would appear that thoughts of submission would be as far from minds of the Boer leaders as at any time since their cause began to weaken.

In reporting the fact that General Miles is in this State near Newberne on a hunting trip, the papers have neglected to say whether or not the General brought along his bath tub.

WOULD INCREASE NAVY.

West Virginia Congressman Thinks United States Should Have Navy Half Strength of That of England

"I believe that the United States should have a navy whose strength should be at least half of that of England," said Representative Dayton, of West Virginia, a member of the house naval committee. "Other countries are increasing their navies repeatedly, and the United States cannot afford to be in the rear of the procession. We can afford to spend approximately as much on the navy as on our army, and with $100,000,000 per annum to expend on the navy we should have one which should be a source of pride and gratification to every American."

"I am a believer in battleships. It is in the battleship the reliance of the country on the sea must be placed. I do not think we should undertake to force the construction of the navy beyond the capacity of the American ship yards, as all our ships should be constructed at home. In fact, spending money on the navy is a good way to put it in circulation, for all of it goes to American ship yards or foundries and to American workmen."

"Our great trouble will be in finding the officers for the new navy. I am inclined to favor Admiral Crowninshield's recommendation that there should for the next ten years be two cadets at Annapolis for each congressional district and four from the State of Iowa."

WINE OF CARDUI

A LITTLE DOES MUCH.

BOONE, IOWA, Dec. 14.
No tongue can tell what I have endured in the past ten years with my monthly sickness. While suffering untold agony, a friend called and recommended Wine of Cardui. I sent for a bottle, and Oh! what relief. After the first dose I began to feel better and have had no pain since.
MRS. GRACE LAMPHERE.

WINE OF CARDUI

Wine of Cardui not only cures but it acts AT ONCE. Here is a case of ten years' standing, and yet one single dose made the sufferer feel better, and stopped the pain. The Wine goes straight to the seat of the trouble. It acts directly upon the menstrual and genital organs. Its action is not violent, and it does not force a result. It simply gives Nature that little assistance that the sufferer's system lacks. A single disorder in the feminine organs spreads many disorders all over the body, and when the Wine cures the source, all the other ills vanish as a matter of course. A woman can be her own physician and cure herself at home. Local examinations are largely things of the past—the obnoxious custom is no longer necessary. Wine of Cardui is the only perfectly safe and sure vegetable Wine made to-day for the cure of "female troubles".

THEY NOW KNOW BETTER.

Geologists Have of Late Discarded the Old Notion About Glacial Movements.

A few years ago geologists confidently asserted that at one period of the world's history a great ice cap came moving down from the polar regions and swept over North America as far south as latitude 38, carrying with it great boulders—which lie about on slopes and hilltops to this day to prove it—and scratching the record of its movement upon cliffs and ledges. Then this ice cap kindly melted and disappeared. This was taught in the schools, and to doubt it was heresy; for science, when it takes up with a theory, is dogmatic, and all geologists said: "Behold, how wonderful is our knowledge; what secrets we can wrest from the past!" After awhile science rather gave up the polar ice cap theory and laid down a new dogma—that of a single continental ice sheet for North America.

The recent investigations of officers of the Canadian geological survey prove that the scientists evolved their glacial theory out of a vivid imagination. It has been found that in northern Alaska there is no evidence that that part of the country was ever covered by a glacier—in fact, conclusive evidence exists that it was not. At the mouth of the McKenzie river is plenty of evidence of glacial action, and also that the glacier which left its records came from the south. On the western shores of Hudson bay are marks of a glacier which came from the west, and on the eastern shores of one which came from the east. East of the Canadian Rockies is a long belt which shows no evidence of ever having been exposed to glacial action.

These and similar discoveries have put the geologists "all at sea," and they now have evolved a new theory regarding the glacial period. It is that one big glacier did not at one time cover all the North American continent, but that several glaciers, moving at different times from different centers of distribution, made their way in different directions and left the glacial records which are now found. They have even given names to these glaciers, such as the "Corrilleran glacier," the "Labradorian glacier" and the "Keewatin glacier." Prof. Lawson, of the University of California, in writing on the subject in the International Monthly, says that as yet it cannot be said that the succession of these great glaciers in time has been established well enough to warrant an unqualified acceptance, but he seems to have little hesitation in accepting the theory of different glaciers moving from different points.

[CONDUCTED BY THE LOCAL UNION.]

Every Hindoo temple is said to be "the foster mother of a destable sensualism."

It may as truly be said that every American saloon is the foster mother of a condemned criminality. There are in this country today millions of young men and young women whose future weal or woe lingers upon our political treatment of this overshadowing overwhelming national legalized curse.

Patriotism alone and apart from all other consideration should place every true American on the prohibition side in a warfare with the saloons.

Simply the effect of a dram upon the drinker is but a small part of the damage done by it. Vastly greater is that which proceeds from its domination of politics, domination of the press, domination of the city, State and national legislation, aye, domination wherever it finds foothold and favor.

Without question, the traffic is legalized against the best judgment of the best intelligence and best conscience of the nation, but alas, how often that judgment is deflected and that conscience hushed, when politics calls her votaries to give expression to that sentiment through the exercise of their franchise.

If the wrong wrought by licensed saloons so multitudinous and grievous were fully unmasked so that the voting masses might see them in all their hideous deformity we must conclude that our voting citizenship would no longer cast their votes to continue such injustice and wrong.

THE CURSED LICENSED SYSTEM—F. M.

LEHMAN.

Write the word on door and steeple,
Read it, fallen priest and people.
Will ye still this evil nourish
In a land where Churches flourish?
Side by side in town and city
(God above, look down in pity!)
Church and barroom, good and evil;
One for God and one for the devil,—
Church in posture, graceful, regal,
Barroom there because it's legal.
Licensed sin and dire damnation,
Side by side with free salvation.
When shall party politician,
Only bent on good position,
Fear the Church and Christian voter,
Rather than the red-nosed toper?
God! when shall the Church in number
Rise to stop this cursed plunder?
When shall men of power and reason
Brand the license system treason?
Train your gun and train your cannon,
Backed by liquor men and mammon,
On the poor, defenceless heathen
(Spend no time in idle grieving);
Swing aloft our dear "Old Glory"
O'er the battle field so gory:
Pose before them as a Nation
Sent of God (?) to bring salvation.
Let our Nation's chief commander
To the liquor-traffic pander;
Let him bid our colored brother
Thoughts of right and justice smother,
Though the Spanish yoke, oppression
In our Philippine possession,
Has been lifted from their shoulder,
Yet a bondage system bolder
Now has entered on their border,
Sowing havoc and disorder.
O ye men of party wisdom!
'Tis the cursed liquor system,
Plying there its trade of slaughter,
Robbing mother, sister daughter;
Lying low our Nation's soldier,
In a drunkard's grave to moulder.
Church of God, awake from slumber!
Ne'er repeat the awful blunder
Of electing to a station
Highest, noblest in our Nation,
One who passes by unheeding
Women's tears, men's interceding.
Church of God! thou hast the power
At the polls, eventful hour,
There to kill the liquor devil
That has brought to us this evil.
Vote against the license system:
Vote for men of truth and wisdom;
Vote for home, and wife, and mother,
Vote and God will help us, brother.
But be brave and flinch, no, never,
Then we'll right this wrong forever.

MILLIONS GIVEN AWAY.

Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness and all diseases of the throat, chest and lungs are surely cured by it. Call on C. E. Holton, druggist, and get a trial bottle free. Regular size 50c and $1. CHILD'S DRESS NO. 8146.

8146—Child's Dress.
6 mos., 1, 2 and 4 years.

Dainty white China silk is here associated with all over silk embroidery and edging.

The full fronts and backs are gathered at the upper edges and arranged on a shallow yoke, which closes invisibly in the center back with buttons and buttonholes.

The bertha is shaped with a scallop in the center front and extends out over the sleeves. It is finished with a narrow frill.

The skirt is trimmed with a ruffle of silk embroidery, surmounted by a band of insertion.

The short, puff sleeves are gathered at the upper and lower edges and completed with a band of insertion to match that used on the skirt. The dress may be worn with or without a guimpe.

Pretty little dresses can be made of muslin, dimity, lawn or cambric, with lace and embroidery for trimming or soft cashmere, poplin and albatross, with velvet or fancy silk for decoration.

To make the dress for a child two years will require two and one-fourth yards of thirty-six inch material, one-fourth yard of all over embroidery for bertha, three and one-fourth yards of edging, and two and three-fourths yards of insertion. The pattern, No. 8146, is cut in sizes for children six months, one, two and four years.

BRAVE MEN FALL.

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and all feel the results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, nervousness, headache and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." Only 50 cents at C. E. Holton's drug store. Every bottle guaranteed.

WORKING NIGHT AND DAY.

The busiest and mightiest little thing that ever was made is Dr. King's New Life Pills. Every pill is a sugar-coated globe of health, that changed weakness into strength, listlessness into energy, brain-fag into mental power. They're wonderful in building up the health. Only 25 cents per box. Sold by C. E. Holton.

When the stomach is tired out it must have a rest, but we can't live without food. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure "digests what you eat" so that you can eat all the good food you want while it is restoring the digestive organs to health. It is the only preparation that digests all kinds of food. Howard Gardner.

New Year Will be brighter if you protect your eyes. Drs. Moore's glasses are right.

GOOD ADVICE.

The most miserable things in the world are those suffering from dyspepsia and liver complaint. More than seventy-five per cent. of the people in the United States are afflicted with these two diseases and their effects: such as sour stomach, sick headache, habitual constiveness, palpitation of the heart, heart-burn, waterbrash, gnawing and burning pains at the pit of the stomach, yellow skin, coated tongue and disagreeable taste in the mouth, coming up of food after eating, low spirits, etc. Go to your druggist and get a bottle of August Flower for 75 cents. Two doses will relieve you. Try it. Get Green's Prize Almanac. Grissom & Fordham.

One Minute Cough Cure, cures That is what it was made for.

B. B. is the only remedy strong enough to do this and cure and so there can never be a return to the symptoms. Don't give up hope, but try B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) or 3 Bs.

The company playing "My Daughter-in-Law" arrived this morning and are stopping at the McAdoo House. Miss Converse is being entertained, as previously stated, by Judge John Gray Bynum.

Two women claiming to have friends in Danville were sent here yesterday from Winston. Chief Scott bought them tickets to Reidsville and sent them off at noon today. They were accompanied by several small children, all of them a very dirty, miserable looking lot.

Only seven of the twelve Aldermen were present last night at the regular meeting. Little business was done. The water committee were instructed to look out for the city's interest regarding the water plant, which is to be transferred to the city next week. It was decided to continue the present operating force of the plant. Rosenblatt & Ellington were given charge of the town clock.
